Programs At Memorial

"The Singing of the Carols" service will be presented by the Sanctuary Choir of the Memorial Methodist Church, Mrs. C. W. Smith, organist and director, Sunday evening in the church sanctuary, beginning at 7:30 o'clock.
The organ prelude and postlude will be: "The Chrisimas Glory Song," - Vienness Melody; and "Christ The Lord Is Born," by Walters. The choir will open the service, singing the "Weihnacht" Christmas Eve Carol, "Long Years Ago," written during the Gold Rush period as a Christmas greeting by Bishop L. R. Brewer, Protestant Episcopal diocese in Montana, to his congregations who had shared liberally in Missionary Work in Montana. the exquisite Christmas song, "There's A Song in The Air," written in 1897 by the founder of Scribner's Magazine, Josiah G. Holland, will be presented as a solo. Nahum Tate's quaint and picturesque Carol, a paraphrase of Luke's story of the shepherds, "While Shepherds Watched," first appearing in print in 1700 with music arranged from George Frederick Handel, will be the next choir selection. The Old French Carol, "Gloria In Excelsis Deo," by an unknown writer, based on the Angelis Chorus, will be presented just before the Responsive Reading, "The Magnificat." The males of the choir will present the "Kings of the Orient" Carol with words and music by J. H. Hopkins, dramatizing effectively the wise men who made their way on camels from the East, to Bethlehem. The immortal carol of German origin, "Stille Nache" with words by the village priest, Joseph Mohr, and music by parish church organist, Franz Gruber, will be sung as a duet. This will be 141st Christmas for the singing of this universally loved Christmas Song. The pastor will suggest some contemporary challenges presented in this Seasonal Songs of praise and inspiration. The congregation will participate in the singing of "As With Gladness Men of Old"—The Epiphany Carol written in 1861 by the British poet, William C. Dix; "Angels, From the Realms of Glory," the Nativity Carol written in 1816 by the British poet James Montgomery, and "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear," the Peace Carol written in 1850 by a Unitarian Minister, Dr. E. H. Sears, and appears to be one of the first of the carols coming from an American writer.
All members and friends of Memorial are urged to be present for this service and visitors are always welcome. $20,000 has been raised in cash by the congregation during the eight months since the beginning of the Building Fund Campaign on April 1st

About The Home

By Frances Dell

Lighting a garden can be as simple as planting candles in flower beds or directing a spotlight to play up the center of interest in your garden.
To make the most of your garden by evening, the lighting arrangements are a bit more complicated. However, it need not be a costly project, nor limited to those who own their own homes.
A permanently installed outdoor lighting system usually involves underground cable work with waterproof outlets above the ground. Costs of this type of installation will vary in different areas.
A very important precaution is to avoid overloading the house circuit. Always tape all plug connections outdoors with electricians' waterproof tape to guard against moisture, and raise cords above puddle level by draping them over notched wooden spikes driven into the ground.
In both temporary and permanent installations, the family must remember to turn off electric current before replacing a light bulb, and to work when the garden is dry.
For added safety, make sure all of your fixtures are well made, sturdy ones — designed for outdoor use.

LATEST FASHIONS

Women in America have been accused of not knowing whether to act like men or women this fall and winter season. Today's couturier fashions would seem to back this up.
Our daytime costumes are severely tailored, and in many cases tend to be mannish. Subdued colors have long been in vogue, although evening creations feature a myriad of colors fashioned into soft, sophisticated silhouettes, with luxury fabrics the order of the day.
Hems are still a becoming 16 inches from the floor. After a "spell" of loose waistlines, the waistlines, while not cinched, are found somewhere between the bust and hip, with a cummerbund or soft belt.
Collars are likely to be big and notched, or shawl type. There is often a fitted neckline — with a stand-away collar finished with a self-band.
The tunic is back with all kinds of new innovations. The tunic requires height to look flattering, and short girls would do well to choose another silhuette.

Rather Low

The two friends had imbibed too freely and found themselves staggering down the railroad tracks. "Shay, Charlie," said one, "does thish shairway seem awfully long to you?"
"It ain't the length that bothers me," Charlie replied, "but this railing is too low."
